

Oxford Group Members Sail for Europe To-day

SEVERAL members of the Moral Rearmament team who began their South African programme in Cape Town in February are sailing for Europe in the Capetown Castle this afternoon while others continue their work in South Africa.

Those leaving include Mr. Bremer Hofmeyr, Major Stephen Foot, Mr. and Mrs. Farrar Vickers, Mr. and Mrs. John Vickers, Mr. Andrew Strang, Miss Lillias Strang, Mr. Robert Anderson.

On their arrival in South Africa they were received by General Smuts at Groote Schuur and by the Governor-General at Westbrooke. Cape Town accorded them a civic reception. Since then they have carried their message to all sections of the life of this and other cities.

Speaking of their impressions of the trip, Mr. Hofmeyr said: "Throughout the length and breadth of this great country there are countless people who learned certain simple, basic truths from the Oxford Group—the need for absolute moral standards, that human nature can be changed, that teamwork is an essential part of Christian life, and that God's guidance can be the normal experience of all who want to find it.

"To-day Moral Rearmament is bringing a further emphasis that in these truths applied on a national scale lies Democracy's answer to the materialistic philosophies that are bidding for the allegiance of mankind."

The members of the team who sail to-day will take part in the world Moral Rearmament assembly at Caux in Switzerland during July, August and September, where other South Africans will join them.
