

The Mayor of Derry, Alderman James Hegarty, pictured with a group of young people representing the white and coloured populations of S. Africa and Rhodesia, who are visiting European countries after attending a moral re-armament conference in Switzerland. The group particularly wished to come to N. Ireland to see how the problems and solutions could be related to their own countries.